Why and how?

OUR AIM:

to empower 40 young Europeans with the knowledge, skills, and inspiration for sustainable living, inspire to look for innovative solutions, take ownership and make their contribution for a liveable future of our common home Europe and planet Earth.

OUR METHODS:

Hackathons, brainstorm sessions, hikes, green quests, study case solving, youth debates and storytelling. All of which are forms of Non-formal education! This way we will learn to take action!

PROJECT OBJECTIVES:

- Raise awareness and promote sustainable development.
- Provide knowledge on responsibility, climate change, critical thinking, and sustainability.
- Highlight links between ecology, sustainability, and rural job opportunities.
- Challenge rural stereotypes and promote rural potential among youth.
- Enhance teamwork, creativity, public speaking, and English skills.
- Facilitate cross-cultural exchange among young people from 5 EU countries.
- Address the lack of connection between Western and Eastern European youth.

Venue & Surroundings

We will be staying in a large guesthouse situated in the Tatra Mountains, located in the South of Poland. Participants will be sharing rooms with 1-3 other people.

During the project, we will have the opportunity to engage in one-day hikes to the mountains. No specific physical preparation is required; however, it is necessary to wear appropriate sport/hiking shoes and comfortable clothing for the activities.

Participants' profile

* Motivated to learn something new about sustainability and to share their local perspective and personal experiences.
